

Mayor Hubbard Cleared, Still Faces Lawsuits

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Orville L. Hubbard of suburban Dearborn, acquitted on all counts of a U. S. civil rights indictment, today faced two lawsuits growing out of alleged discrimination.

Both are civil actions. One is in U. S. District Court; the other in a state court.

The beaming and bouncy 250-pound mayor emerged Thursday from a trial which started 2 days earlier, saying "Thank God for the American jury system. I'm very grateful."

Hubbard and his public safety director, George Lewis, and police chief, Garrison Clayton, had just been acquitted by a U. S. District Court jury of conspiring to deny the civil rights of a homeowner whose residence was the target of a racial demonstration on Labor Day, 1963.

Hubbard and Clayton also were acquitted of failing to protect the personal and property rights of Giuseppe Stanzone from the stone-throwing mob which mistakenly believed Stanzone had rented an upstairs flat to Negroes.

Dearborn is a virtually all-white city of 123,000. Hubbard, who did not take the stand in his own defense, is in his 12th consecutive two-year term as mayor.

Maximum punishment under the federal misdemeanor charges would have been 12 months imprisonment and a $1,000 fine on each count.

Only two and a half hours before they came in with an acquittal verdict, the eight women and four men jurors had reported themselves deadlocked. One of the men was a Negro, one of the women was from Dearborn.

Stanzone has a $250,000 civil damage suit pending in U. S. District Court against Hubbard and 18 members of his police department. Trial of this was delayed, pending disposition of the criminal charges.

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has obtained a Wayne County Circuit Court order directing Hubbard to show cause why city hall bulletin board display of material the commission deems derogatory to Negroes should not be enjoined.

The date however, hasn't been set, although there has been speculation that the Gemini-Titan 5 will be launched in early August.

Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator for manned space flight, said Thursday that the GT5 will be equipped with radar to help it rendezvous with a target capsule.

Senate Adopts Plan To Reduce Silver In Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a bill which would eliminate silver from dimes and quarters and cut the silver content of half dollars.

Passage came late Thursday on a 74-9 vote. The bill was sent to the House, where a similar measure may come up for debate next week.

Under the Senate bill, the 90 per cent silver content of the half dollar would be reduced to 40 per cent, as requested by President Johnson. The House bill, which also would remove the silver from dimes and quarters as asked by Johnson, includes an amendment which would eliminate all of the silver from half dollars.

The President had called for the reduction of silver in coins on June 3. In a special message to Congress, he urged quick action in view of the rapidly diminishing Treasury stock of silver.

He also expressed concern that a prolonged debate might encourage the hoarding of silver coins.

Western senators made six unsuccessful efforts to revise the bill more to their liking.

But their key proposal, to keep 40 per cent silver in the dime and quarter as well as the half dollar, was rejected 57 to 34.

On the other side of the argument, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., from a silver-using state, sought to eliminate silver from the 50 cent piece, too. This was beaten 60 to 32.

Mining-state senators argued that the effect of the administration bill was to debase the nation's coinage system. They said the only real solution to the problem was a drastic price increase for silver to entice more domestic mines back into production.

Praise Heaped On Record Of 89th Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Johnson in the starring role, Democrats lavished praise and money on their one-sided majorities in the House and Senate.

"This 89th Congress will leap into history as the most effective and the most rewarding Congress in the history of our nation," Johnson told some 2,500 Democrats crowded into a hotel ballroom Thursday night.

Then he moved on to the Washington Armory, where well over 6,000 diners were jammed in — at $100 a plate — to eat charcoal-broiled heart of fillet mignon and hear some political talk.

Affair Nets $650,000

They heard plenty, from Johnson, from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and from Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

And they paid plenty. Bailey told reporters the dinner netted some $650,000 for Democratic congressional campaign war chests.

"I come here tonight not to bury the Congress, but to praise it," Johnson said at the Washington Hilton Hotel. "I come not to purge its selection, but to urge its re-election."

At the armory, he offered this view:

"Congress is moved by abiding convictions, deep within the heart and soul of this nation, to stand up before the world to declare the will of this nation to resist aggression, defend freedom, honor our treaties and above all, work without ceasing anywhere, anytime for the peace of mankind."

While Johnson spoke at the hotel, Humphrey did the talking at the cavernous, gaily decorated armory. Then they swapped rostrums.

Victory Of People

The President said the record Congress is writing is a victory not of party, but of the people.

He ticked off House and Senate action, on the floor and in committee, on 17 bills in one

Communists Threaten Tieup For West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists threatened today to tie up barge and rail shipments to West Berlin. They also suggested that the four occupation powers give them control of air traffic to West Berlin.

The threat to barge and rail shipments was made by Transport Minister Edwin Kramer in a speech to the Communist party Central Committee published by Neues Deutschland, the party newspaper.

Kramer said permits for barge traffic between West Germany and West Berlin issued by the four occupation powers would not be acceptable after June 30.

He warned that East Germany would take necessary measures if the West German government does not reach agreement with the East German regime by then to establish new procedures.

Freight Rates Disputed

This could mean that all barge traffic, averaging between 100 and 200 barges a day, would be stopped on July 1.

Concerning rail traffic, the East Germans want to increase freight rates by about 20 per cent, contrary to four-power rules. Kramer said if no agreement on this is reached between the Bonn and East German governments, all freight shipments will be issued new transit documents at the border stations instead of allowing shipments through on a single document as has been the practice.

This could lead to mammoth tie-ups of rail shipments at the various border crossing points.

The new Communist threats came after unusual Communist military activity along the Berlin Autobahn.

The military operations along the superhighway subsided Thursday night. Western diplomats were puzzled about its meaning, but the West German government said the situation was serious and called for countermeasures.

The unusual activity began Wednesday night when large columns of infantry, heavy weapons and tanks were spotted along the 110-mile lifeline. About 100 Soviet and East German troops took up positions in foxholes on both sides of the Elbe River bridge.

The troops controlled the bridge approaches for more than 15 hours but made no attempt to interfere with traffic to and from West Berlin.

Military sources reported Thursday night that there was no further major activity on the autobahn and that most of the troops had been withdrawn from along the highway.

All remained quiet within Communist-encircled West Berlin, and there was no repetition of flights by armed East German helicopters along the borders of West Berlin. One helicopter last week flew over two U.S. Army installations in the city.

"We just cannot tell what the Communists are up to at this point," a Western diplomat said. "Perhaps they are only playing a war of nerves. But we know from experience in this city that the situation can change within 15 minutes."

Highway Sign Dispute Goes To Washington

LANSING (AP) — Michigan legislators will carry the state's highway sign controversy to Washington next month.

House-senate disagreements over a bill which would safeguard $139 million in federal highway funds and allow hotel, motel, restaurant and gas station owners to continue advertising along highway rights-of-way, ended in a deadlock Thursday.

Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, author of the bill, urged the house to put his provisions back into the bill and let a conference committee work out the differences.

"I talked to Fred Tripp (Administrative director of the Highway Department) today, and we agreed the conference committee members should go to Washington and talk to the Bureau of Public Roads to work this thing out once and for all," Jacobetti told the house. "They will come back with their report in July." The highway department has been trying to remove signs from the rights-of-way of state trunklines for years, saying that federal highway funds were being jeopardized. They remain along highways in most Upper Peninsula counties because of court injunctions against their removal by the department.

Although the State Supreme Court struck down Michigan's 1925 sign control law a few months ago, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads warned the new bill might be too loosely worded to avoid loss of federal funds.

Jacobetti's proposal would have allowed the state to sell small parcels of land within the right-of-way, so that the signs would be standing on private, rather than public property.

The senate version would prohibit signs closer to the edge of the road than 14 feet in rural areas and two feet in cities. It would allow a person who owned land adjacent to the right-of-way to request and get permission to set up one sign.

Floating Cafe Blast Kills 40 On Saigon River

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Two big terrorist explosions ripped through a crowded floating restaurant on the Saigon River almost simultaneously tonight and witnesses said they believed 40 or 50 persons, including many Americans, were killed.

The first police count showed 17 dead and 24 wounded. Officials expected this tally to go higher. Decks of the restaurant, the My Canh, and pavement on the riverside were slick with blood.

This incident is possibly the worst in terms of lives lost in South Viet Nam's capital in many years.

The riverfront normally is thronged with strollers seeking cool breezes in evening. Mothers and their children were among the casualties.

The explosions cut into the floating restaurant about 8:15 p.m.—7:15 a.m. EST.

One was caused by a powerful shaped charge—possibly an American-made Claymore electric mine—planted in the bank of the river. The Claymore explodes in the direction it is pointed.

The restaurant, which is moored about 25 feet from the bank, has an entry over a gang-plank leading from the waterfront street. It is patronized mostly by Americans and wealthy Vietnamese.

A second blast, which investigators believed was caused by a bomb mounted on a bicycle, went off at a tobacco stall on the bank next to the restaurant.

Investigators assumed they were planted in advance and timed to explode at the peak of the dinner hour on a weekend night. The restaurant was crowded to capacity and its glass walls were crushed under the hail of fragments.

Chaplin Leaves $15,000 Prize To Poor In Holland

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Charlie Chaplin says he will leave his Erasmus Prize of 50,000 guilders—about $15,000—in Holland for the poor who want to be educated.

Chaplin shared 100,000 guilders Thursday with Swedish film director Ingmar Bergman, who was absent because of illness, for cultural contributions to Europe.

The Erasmus Foundation specifies part of the money must go to some European cultural or educational purpose in agreement between the recipient and the foundation.

Johnson Visits With Truman

KANSAS CITY (AP) — President Johnson marked the 20th birthday of the United Nations today by conferring here with Harry S. Truman who was chief executive when the U.N. was born.

Before the two men got together for a private breakfast, however, Johnson took a Truman-style halfhour walk around downtown Kansas City.

From Missouri, Johnson was bound for San Francisco to address U.N. anniversary ceremonies.

The chief executive rising early, visited the coffee shop of the Muehlebach Hotel, where he spent the night, about 6 a.m. He sat down for his morning coffee then embarked on a stroll.

Johnson personally greeted scores of shopkeepers and pedestrians during his stroll.

Today was the first meeting between Johnson and Truman since the President called on Truman at a Kansas City hospital last Oct. 21 while Truman was recovering from a fall.

Transport Hits Hill In Takeoff For Okinawa

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — An Air Force jet transport loaded with Marines headed for Okinawa via Hawaii crashed today shortly after takeoff from the Marine air base here. A spokesman said all 84 aboard were killed.

The big C135 smashed into the low, rolling hills about 4½ miles north of this Southern California base at about 2:45 a.m. The wreckage was spotted soon after dawn.

From Pendleton

A base spokesman said the 72 Marines aboard were from Camp Pendleton, Calif., near San Diego south of here. The plane and presumably the crew of 12 Air Force men aboard were from McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.

There was no indication what went wrong aboard the plane. There were low clouds and light mist in the area at the time. The plane is a military version of the Boeing 707 jet.

A base spokesman said, "There is expectation that the Marines on board were on their way to Viet Nam but this plane was scheduled only for Honolulu."

Area Isolated

In Washington, the Defense Department gave Okinawa as the destination. Okinawa is a staging area for movements to Viet Nam.

El Toro is 40 miles southeast of Los Angeles, just inland from the sea. The plane took off to the north. Planes doing so normally then bank left, away from the low-lying Santa Ana Mountains that border the field area. The wreckage was found in the hills almost due north of the strip.

The area is sparsely populated brushland. Because it is isolated, with few roads, search and rescue parties went to the scene in helicopters.

Strike Broken In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The five-day wildcat strike of Teamster drivers began breaking up today as chain store food trucks driven by Local 107 members threatened with loss of their jobs, delivered tons of fresh fruit, vegetables, fish and meat.

In the first hours after dawn more than 100 trucks of Food Fair, A.C. & P. and Penn Fruit left warehouses for supply — exhausted stores in the Greater Philadelphia area.

The drivers of Local 107, which had called the unauthorized "holiday" Monday in defiance of national Teamster leaders, reported for work after receiving warning telegrams from their chain store employers that they will be "considered to have quit" if they didn't come in this morning.

Emissaries of Teamster President James R. Hoffa circulated among the strikers trying to persuade them to go back to work. Hoffa reportedly dispatched 50 business agents from locals in other cities. He has condemned the walkout.

Doctors Will Not Be Requested To Boycott Medicare

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Medical Association has decided not to urge doctors to boycott Medicare, and AMA leaders have restated their willingness to discuss the program with President Johnson.

But the 234-member House of Delegates, policy-making body of the AMA, rejected a resolution "petitioning" Johnson for a conference on the administration bill that appears near final congressional approval.

Any conference with Johnson apparently would be attended by eight AMA members, including the president, Dr. James Z. Appel of Lancaster, Pa.

At the final session of the annual AMA convention, the house advised each doctor to be guided by his conscience on how to face Medicare, long fought by the AMA.

Lansing Boy, 11, All-A At MSU, Receives Award

DALLAS (AP) — There are still new worlds to conquer, even for a young fellow who started to college at the age of 10.

Mike Grost, now 11, of Lansing, Mich. found a day of fresh experiences Thursday.

With his father, William Grost, he made his first airplane trip, taking a close look at the jet cockpit in the process.

He flew here to accept a "Captain of Achievement" Award from the American Academy of Achievement.

Educators say Mike possesses an intelligence quotient so high it cannot be measured adequately. He finished his freshman year at Michigan State University last spring with all A's.

U.P. Roadmen Win Recognition

Michigan's Upper Peninsula can lay claim to much of the credit for the state's road-building program. It has provided manpower and the brainpower in key positions in the State Highway Department.

There's Howard E. Hill, director, born in Calumet, and director of engineering, John E. Meyer, native of Ontonagon.

Eleven other Upper Peninsula natives hold positions as division directors.

"I believe that while we all feel our primary function is to serve all of the people of the state, we are keenly mindful of the needs and problems of the Upper Peninsula," said Hill.

Sign Law Benefit

"Our judgments on such matters as construction priorities are dictated by facts and figures of population and traffic counts, not on sentiment. We are convinced that, in the long run, what is good for the whole state will be of greatest benefit for each part of the state."

He insisted, too, that the Department's measures to control the posting of signs and other encroachments on highway rights-of-way would be of

Library Given Whitney Books

When the 1909 Class of Escanaba High School held its 55th reunion here a year ago, one of the featured speakers was to have been Rear Admiral Rintoul Whitney, war hero of the class. On the eve of his departure for the Reunion, Admiral Whitney suffered a fatal heart attack. He was buried at Ft. Rosarans, San Diego, Calif.

Six months later the Whitney's flyer son, Lt. Richard K. Whitney, was killed on a Navy training flight.

Austin Stromberg of Evanston, a member of the class, said that Mrs. Whitney has gathered Admiral Whitney's wartime mementoes and is giving them to the Escanaba Library and the Delta County Historical Society.

The Whitney Memorial Library of Astronomy and Navigation has been received by Librarian John Myers Placek of the Escanaba Library for reference usage. Admiral Whitney was an astronomy instructor at Long Beach State College after his retirement from the Navy.

Stromberg has called Escanaba area members of the EHS Class of 1909 to a reunion meeting at the House of Ludington at 2 p. m. Thursday, July 1, with a dinner to be served at 6:30.

Among the out-of-town guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Martin Swanson, Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Olson, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carlsson, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Stromberg; Freda Carlson, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. James Beland, Marquette; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Stromberg, Iron Mountain; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hornstein of Garden.

Mike Jensen of the Class Committee is handling hotel accommodations. Mrs. Walter Dickson and Gust Asp will be in charge of registrations and dinner.

Eskey High Band To Perform At Packer Halftime

It was announced today by John R. Chown, director of bands at Escanaba Area High School, that the Eskey Marching Band has been selected to present the half-time entertainment during the Green Bay Packer-St. Louis Cardinal professional football game in Green Bay on Saturday, Sept. 11.

"This is a distinct honor for the high school band, and it will be the first time that a high school band from the Upper Peninsula has appeared on nation-wide television," Chown said.

The 100-piece marching band will begin rehearsals in August for the show. Chown said "this will mean many hours of hard work and practice for the band members, but it will be a real honor and a tremendous thrill to perform in the Packer Stadium and over the television networks."

"We plan to do an 11 minute show which will include precision marching, dance step routines, a featured section, and will probably end the show with the last portion of the '1812 Overture' which was one of the concert highlights of this past year," said Chown.

The band will be guests of the Packer organization at a dinner at the Stadium Club preceding the game. There are still a few tickets available for the game, and they may be obtained by writing the Ticket Office at 1265 Highland Ave., Green Bay.

THIS NEW ambulance of the high headroom type has been purchased and is "on duty" here for City Ambulance Service. The new equipment was made possible with the assistance of a Small Business Administration loan.

Small Business Loan Goes To City Ambulance

The Small Business Administration today announced its first Upper Peninsula loan with the presentation of a check to modernize and augment the services of a privately-operated ambulance in Escanaba.

The $16,000 check was presented to James Schwalbach of the City Ambulance Service at a noon luncheon at the House of Ludington.

J. N. Gray, branch manager, Small Business Administration, Marquette Branch Office, said that the check is the first for an SBA-approved Upper Peninsula Business Loan, under Title IV of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Taking part in the check presentation at the luncheon today were Robert F. Phillips, regional director of the SBA, Detroit Regional Office; SBA Washington officials; Congressman Raymond Clevenger; and Dr. E. V. Bowden, director of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress.

Loan proceeds will provide two additional permanent jobs, plus modern and improved ambulance services to the greater Escanaba area.

The new full-sized, specially equipped ambulance will fill the growing requirements of the region. Support for the project has come from George Harvey, Escanaba city manager, and from John Haines, associate administrator of St. Francis Hospital.

Schwalbach said the loan makes it possible for City Ambulance Service to provide better, more rapid, and specialized services. For example, there will be the use of a "stair chair" for transporting patients more conveniently and with greater safety up and down stairways; equipment such as a pneumatic for resuscitation; and a four-ton roto-power pry for opening jammed doors of vehicles in accidents.

The service area can be enlarged under the new system and there will still be an ambulance always available within the city of Escanaba, Schwalbach said.

Schwalbach has made approaches in the past to both the Escanaba City Council and the Delta County Board of Supervisors in efforts to obtain public funds to support the ambulance service. His policy is and continues to be to answer calls from police promptly and without question.

An ambulance service membership campaign brought in a "pretty fair" number of subscribers, Schwalbach said. This plan will have to be continued and there will also be approaches to the City of Escanaba for a retainer in the future, he said.

Alcohol Banned At Fairgrounds

State Law prohibits alcoholic beverages on state property and this includes the U. P. State Fairgrounds at all times, Cliff Perras, U. P. Fair manager, said today.

"This law will be enforced to the fullest degree," said the Fair manager in directing public attention to the law. "Anyone attending any grandstand performance will not be allowed to bring in beer or any other alcoholic beverage; anyone arriving on the grounds with beer will not be admitted. The grounds will be policed and the law enforced."

Stock car racing has been extended into most of July for the enjoyment of the people of the Escanaba area, Perras said.

"Because so many people enjoy these events, we felt that we should cooperate and make the facilities of the Fairgrounds available," the Fair manager added.

Failure of the public to cooperate with the order on alcoholic beverages, however, means that stock car racing will have to be halted earlier than anticipated, the fair manager continued.

"Let's all keep the law and everybody will have a good time when they come to the Fairgrounds," Perras said.

Sugar Maples Are Best, But Soft Maple Flourishes

A SINGLE samara of hard maple starts a new tree.

Eugene Peterson of Carney says that everyone is familiar with the evolution described in the phrase "Great oaks from little acorns grow," but he wonders how many are familiar with the origins of the maples, which are such an important tree in Upper Peninsula forestry?

The seed of the hard maple—which is our "sugar" maple of the Upper Peninsula's maple syrup business—is contained in the fruit, which is called a Double Samara. These ripen on the tree and fall, usually in August in Northern Michigan.

They are shaped like an airplane propeller, so that their fall effect a wide dispersment of the seed from the parent tree.

The abundance of the maple seeds on the ground is shown by a government research project. ("Who else," asks Peterson "would have time to count them?")

Maple Seeds

A series of traps in Northern Michigan gave 8,560,000 sugar maple seeds per acre under a virgin stand and 4,302,000 per acre under a selectively cut stand in an excellent seed year.

Light seed crops are produced by trees 8 inches in diameter, which vary in age from 40 to 60 years, and moderate seed crops by 10 to 14 inch diameter trees ranging in age from 70 to 100 years.

In the accompanying pictures Peterson shows a single samara, with about 1½ inch blade, which is deteriorating as the seed pod is lifted off the ground several inches by the new root, with the first two leaves beginning to unfold from the pod.

The first two leaves to emerge are long and narrow and completely unlike maple leaves.

Seed Is Large

The other picture shows two miniature maple trees that are two years old. A sailor hat is the white area behind them. The trees are 4 to 6 inches tall and another maple samara just beginning to grow can be seen beneath them.

The seed of sugar maple is large, averaging 6,100 per pound when commercially cleaned.

The Upper Peninsula has thousands of acres of maple forests. The two major types are red, or soft maples, and hard, or sugar maples. Both seed from samara, and both sucker (regenerate from roots), the reds more so than the hard maples.

Sugar Maple Preferred
The hard maple is a much more valuable tree than the soft maple, which is one of the fastest growing trees in our northern woodlands, but which is also a very speedy rotter. In national forest management any red maple with a blemish is marked for removal because it will rot so quickly. The Hiawatha National Forest has twice the sawlog volume of hard maple that it does of soft maple, but in cordwood soft maple predominates.

Cultural practices strive to encourage hard maple and discourage soft maple, which predominates generally in cut-over forests because it responds so readily to sunlight, says George Semmens of the Hiawatha Forest Staff, whereas hard maple is intolerant of sunlight, preferring shady conditions for regeneration.

The red maple seeds are heavier than those of the hard maple and for this reason fall down more directly under the parent trees. This would seem to favor the dispersion of hard maples, but other factors make the red maples more widespread in natural stockings, particularly in sunny, open areas.

The Ainu remain one of Japan's mysteries. Although they live among Mongoloid people, the Ainu look more like Europeans. Most have light complexions, round eyes, heavy beards and wavy black hair. They speak a language unrelated to Japanese.

Eight Research Projects Aided

LANSING (AP) — Research projects ranging from a new concrete building module to new methods of potato processing, all aimed at improving and expanding Michigan industry, were approved by the house Thursday.

The eight projects, conducted by five state colleges and universities, would cost $240,789. They would be financed by a $750,000 state research fund that went into effect last year.

The house action must be approved by the Senate today.

The schools, projects and grants included:

Michigan State—Development and expansion of the potato processing industry $15,775; technical assistance for improving the red tart cherry industry, $35,000; development of better exploration methods for natural resources, $37,650.

University of Michigan — Development of a new concrete building module for the construction industry, $23,373.

Michigan Tech—New uses for low grade and submarginal hardwood, $23,500; locating and estimating size and accessibility of stone resources, $27,500.

Western Michigan — Techniques for increasing the use of hardwoods, $41,000.

Ferris State — A study to determine present and future needs for technically trained people, $35,000.

About $500,000 of the state research fund is being used this year. The remaining $250,000 is being reappropriated to finance these projects.

Heroes From Space

Michigan got a fine, full taste of hero worship with the visit of the Gemini space twins, Maj. James McDivitt and Maj. Edward White to the University of Michigan, and the visit of McDivitt to his home town of Jackson. It was heady and wonderful: a refreshing reminder of the great human satisfaction in honoring our fellows for great achievement.

They were not our first astronauts, of course, but their flawless performance and the walk in space and other sensations combined with their personalities to make them very appealing.

Behind the heroics was a great achievement in learning. A woman who saw the Ann Arbor honors ceremony said "They built their careers on Straight A's."

Both McDivitt and White earned degrees at the University of Michigan in 1959 and so did Harold I. Johnson (Class of 1941) who designed the space gun which helped Gemini astronaut White walk in space. Johnson is with the National Aviation and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

Once upon a time heroics consisted mostly of courage. Brave men ventured greatly with their lives and earned the admiration of their people. Great achievement and heroics require much more than that today.

The Gemini flight called for organization of a complexity impossible of attainment even a few years ago. The young astronauts who flew the capsule were scientists. They had been outstanding students.

When Time magazine suggested that Major McDivitt had been a "so-so" student at Jackson Junior College, it got a prompt correction from Gunder A. Myran, assistant registrar, who said: "I note that James McDivitt attended 'tiny' Jackson Junior College. Next fall we will enroll about 2,250 students. We are no longer tiny. Major McDivitt had a 3.4 point average and graduated with honors."

The point shouldn't be overstressed that education is an almost indispensable tool for the solution of most complex problems today, but it certainly shouldn't be neglected. Here, coming down from space to world acclaim are two men who know much more than just how to push the buttons on Gemini to get desired results. They are such truly modern men that they understand the electronics, rocket thrust, radiation, gravity, physiology, and other disciplines with which they were concerned in their orbiting.

Jules Verne, using the fullest powers of his imagination, thought he'd gone pretty far out creating Captain Nemo and sending him around the world in a submarine, but the reality of Gemini makes such fancy just kindergarten stuff.

In bringing America's space science such bright luster McDivitt and White have done an even greater service to higher education. They have put it in a practical focus as an indispensable force in space science, as it has long been in medicine, and most of the other sciences.

College Crush

The crush at the college gate is becoming even worse than expected. Enrollment at the nation's colleges and universities is expected to exceed 5.2 million in the 1965-66 school year as the full force of the post-World War II baby boom is felt.

A survey by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges reveals that applications for admission next fall are up 34 per cent from last year. Previous yearly increases had been about seven per cent.

The pressure has forced one state, California, to abandon its traditional policy of assuring any graduate of its high schools a place in a state college. Now, reports the National Education Association, quotas are being established for each college.

The Doctor Says:

Epileptic Seizures Traced

Q—My doctor says I have grand mal epilepsy. What causes the spasms? Can they be controlled completely with Dilantin? My electroencephalogram test showed that I had brain damage. Does that mean I will go insane?

A—The seizures of epilepsy are caused by abnormal electrical discharges in the brain but the underlying cause of these discharges is unknown. In some epileptics there is a hereditary factor. If the dosage of diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) is properly adjusted to your needs and if you take it regularly the seizures should be controlled.

Brain damage may be the result of a severe blow on the head hardening of the arteries in the brain or various infectious diseases. It may be severe or very mild. Neither epilepsy nor mild brain damage would cause insanity which in most cases is a deeprooted emotional problem.

Q—What is dermatomyofibrosis? Is it a fatal or crippling disease?

A—The cause of this disease—an inflammatory process that involves the skin, muscles and connective tissue—is unknown. Although it may cause death, most victims survive and are improved with treatment. They cannot, however, be said to be cured and relapses are common.

The measures that give the most relief include aspirin prednisone and gentle massage to prevent contractures. Persons with this disease appear to be highly susceptible to cancer and for this reason frequent physical checkups for early detection of this complication are important.

State To Have 120,000 Tons Of Sour Cherries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan, the nation's biggest producer of sour cherries, will turn out 120,000 tons this year, the Agriculture Department predicted.

Production nationwide will total 177,900 tons, the department forecast. This would be 32 per cent less than last year's record crop but 42 per cent above the 1959-63 average.

Production is expected to be below last year in all states, with Michigan and Wisconsin accounting for most of the decrease.

FAIR TRIAL PUBLICITY

There always have been and always will be those who are quick to blame the "sensational seeking" press for everything from juvenile delinquency to unfair trial practices.

These people do not realize that any responsible juror, interested in making a decision only after he has heard all of the facts, will not be harmfully influenced by pre-trial news stories. If the average juror is no more responsible than these "reformers" believe, then our judicial system would have collapsed a long time ago, for want of any fair trials.

Or possibly our law enforcement system would have gone first . . . for want of enough jails in which to confine the accused.

COUNTING VOTES

Every citizen, when he leaves the polling booth, is entitled to a little glow of satisfaction at having his influence felt — at having voted for candidates whom he believes will best represent his views.

It is easy for anyone to assume his vote has been counted as equal to all others. After all, if you have voted once and everyone else has voted once, doesn't that make everyone equal?

The answer: not necessarily.

Questions And Answers

Q—What is regarded as the world's most poisonous of all fungi?

A—The mushroom known as the "death cap."

Q—Which U. S. president wrote one of the most popular books of his time?

A—One of the most popular books of his time and still high on the all-time list was President U. S. Grant's "Memoirs."

Q—What is the origin of the word "gimmick"?

A—"Gimmick" originated in carnival slang to describe a device to control the speed of a spinning "wheel of fortune." By use of the gimmick—which was always hidden—the operator or grifter could control the payoff, if any.

Q—Is the Caspian Sea a fresh or salt water lake?

A—Salt water.

Q—What city served as the last capital of the Confederacy?

A—Danville, Va. Here Jefferson Davis heard the news of Lee's surrender at Appomattox on April 8. And then, the following day, he fled again, to Union capture in Georgia.

Q—Who observed the first U. S. meteoric display on record?

A—Andrew Ellicott on Nov. 12, 1799, off the Florida Keys.

Q—Why was Jerusalem put in the center of the early maps made in Europe?

A—In the Middle Ages the people of Europe made maps by reading the Bible. In the Bible it says that Jerusalem is surrounded by cities. Therefore, they put Jerusalem in the center of their maps

But votes can be diluted and the malapportioned vote, like watered whisky, may appear unchanged while actually having its effect significantly reduced.

The United States Senate, is a clear example of intentional malapportionment. Michigan, with a population of eight million, sends two senators. Alaska, with a population of 250,000, sends two senators. Not a very good break for the Michigan voter.

But the U. S. Senate was necessary to the formation of the nation . . .

The question now is whether state legislatures should be allowed to copy this system. Should 200,000 urban and suburban residents, for example, be represented by one vote in a state senate while, say, 50,000 rural residents get an equal vote?

Last year, the Supreme Court answered no. It ruled that both houses of a state legislature must be chosen on a one-man, one-vote basis.

Now there is a strong movement in Congress to overturn this ruling. Those who disagree with the court are proposing a constitutional amendment that would allow one state house to apportion on the basis of land area if the plan were approved in a referendum.

Basically, the issue stems from the rapid growth of the nation's cities and suburbs and the understandable desire of rural areas to conserve their diminishing political power.

In the North, the Republicans would be the beneficiaries of such an amendment because Republican strength is largely in the countryside. In the South, where Republican strength is centered in the cities, the Democrats would stand to gain most.

Advocates of a constitutional amendment will argue that the people of each state should be allowed to decide how their legislatures are to be apportioned.

Opponents counter that there are certain constitutional guarantees that should not be tampered with by any majority, should not ever be made the subject of political campaigns.

These include the right to life, liberty and property, to free speech, freedom of worship and the right — under every possible circumstance — to an equal vote at the polls.

They add that the federal government's role in urban and suburban affairs can only be diminished if the state governments show a greater concern for this fast-growing section of their constituency.

No office-holder who numbers both rural and urban constituents can take a position on this one without suffering some political damage. Yet, citizens deserve a fair explanation of the issue and an idea of how their representatives stand on it.

In my opinion, the one-man, one-vote principle is a sound one. I think each citizen should have the same voice regardless of what part of the state he moves to. And I believe no majority — even all voters but one — should be permitted to deprive that one remaining citizen of his equal voice.

When the constitutional amendment proposal comes up for Senate action, I intend to be among those who fight it.

Stiff Pace For Mail

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Postmaster General John Gronowski was just as proud as any other American about the Gemini-4 space success. Yet the achievements of Majors White and McDivitt may eventually be a source of discomfort to Gronowski.

"I know the magic of their achievements was broken somewhere in the United States by a cynical customer of the mails who received a letter two days late," says Gronowski. "I can see him now, leaning on his fence and saying to his neighbor: 'It sure beats me how we can send two people nearly half-way round the world in 48 minutes—and still can't get a letter across town in 48 hours.'"

Government officials have once again made it through the awkward four-week period of college graduation exercises—when they're expected to telescope the entire future into a 15-minute speech before an audience which they know is paying scant attention to what they're saying.

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz poked a little fun at these orators when he told University of Iowa graduates: "Commencement speakers have a good deal in common with grandfather clocks. Standing usually some six feet tall, typically ponderous in construction, more traditional than functional, their distinction is largely their noisy communication of essentially common-place information."

Book Is Handy To Sock Dates

Dear Ann Landers: As the father of three children I thought I knew a lot about life, but I still learn something every day. Last night I took the family to a drive-in movie and I learned plenty.

The feature hadn't been on five minutes when a young girl in the next car squealed, "Stop that." About 10 seconds later she yelled, "If you don't leave me alone I'm going to sock you." Then a boy's voice said, "Oh c'mon, don't be so touchy."

I looked in their direction and saw an attractive young girl who couldn't have been more than 15 years old. Her boy friend appeared to be about 17.

At that moment another female voice in another car warned, "If you don't cut that out I'm going to get out and walk home." The boy seated next to her answered angrily, "You don't think I brought you here to look at this crummy movie, do you?"

At that point my wife whispered, "Let's go home. There's no telling what will be said next and I don't want to have to explain to the children."

Please, Ann Landers, come right out and tell teen-age girls the facts of life so they will know how to deal with boys who are out to get all they can. —A FATHER

Dear Dad: You must be a new reader. I've been telling them for ten years. And my recent book, "Teen-agers and Sex" has offered another round of ammunition. A girl in Little Rock wrote, "Your book came in very handy. I took it along on a date last Friday. When my boy friend got fresh, I hit him with it."

Dear Ann Landers: In view of the recent letter concerning a daughter who refused to finance her younger sister's college education I'd like to re- cite my experience.

I put two relatives through college. They both promised to pay me back out of their first earnings. My niece wanted so desperately to be a teacher that she offered to pay me 10% interest on the loan. I refused the interest and told her I'd settle for the principle.

Two years have passed since she got her degree and my niece now has an excellent job in a fine school. She has not mentioned one word about repaying the money she owes me. Last Christmas I received no card from her.

The other relative has a fine position in the electronics field. I have not heard from him since his graduation last year. When I saw him at a family affair recently he gave me a nervous hello and avoided me for the balance of the evening.

Can self-respecting people put obligations out of their minds and pretend they don't exist? Are all people who borrow money like this or did I draw a couple of lemons? —TAKEN Dear Taken: All people are not like that. Some people mean it when they say they will repay a loan.

Rather than just hand over money to a friend or relative I recommend this: Offer to be a co-signer at the bank. The borrower will then owe the bank, not you. If he fails to meet the payments he will receive crisp and impersonal reminders.

Of course if he goes sour at the bank, as the co-signer you must pay the loan. However, your chances for getting stuck are slight because most people will stick a friend or a relative before they will go sour at a bank.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lawmakers Toil Toward Midnight Work Deadline

LANSING (AP)—The senate and house today toiled toward a midnight work deadline, framing a government reorganization plan, adjusting final dollar differences in budget bills and compromising on other legislation.

Bills must be approved in final form by midnight tonight or they will be dead until the legislature comes back to Lansing Sept. 14.

A reorganization bill was promised by a conference committee which worked most of Thursday blending proposals from the house, senate and governor's office.

Sen. William Romano, D-Warren, said he was told Gov. George Romney would support the measure, calling for individual heads of 12 principal state departments and commission heads for seven.

Romney had opposed earlier plans for mostly commission heads in the reorganization of state government from 140-plus division down to not more than 20 major departments.

More than $800 million worth of money bills were being hammered into final shape by negotiators from the Senate Appropriations Committee and House Ways and Means Committee.

Another compromise group recommended a senate plan to pay State Board of Education members a per diem fee rather than yearly salary. The senate approved. If the house agrees, the board members will get $60 a day, the chairman an extra $10.

The senate gave final agreement to and sent to Romney a bill strengthening control and prevention of water pollution.

State officials call it the strongest pollution law in the country.

The house agreed to a compromise that would speed up the counting and reporting of election results. It would allow counting of absentee ballots at 7 p.m.—one hour before poll closing time in most areas. The senate had wanted a 6 p.m. counting start time. The house did not want to allow the counting before the polls closed. State law currently prohibits any processing of absentee ballots before the polls close.

Miss Theoret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Theoret of Gladstone Rte. 1.

Junior High Band Camp Opens For Third Season

The third annual Escanaba Area Public School Junior High Band Camp will open Sunday, June 27, at Clear Lake, near Shingleton, and will run for one week, ending with a public concert on July 3 at 2 p. m.

Seventy students from the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the public school system were chosen for the camp experience according to instrumentation and ability.

Musical director of the camp will again be Searl Pickett of Fond du Lac, nationally-known clarinet and saxophone clinician.

The Camp Staff
Other members of the camp staff will be David Laakso, Escanaba Junior High Band director and camp director; John Chown, Escanaba Senior High Band director; Paul Cowen, Gladstone High School Band director, and James Keranen, Junior High Band director at Garden City, Mich.

Camp recreation director will be Conrad Beck, vocal music instructor at Escanaba Area High School. The camp food director will be Ted Breitenbach, hot lunch manager of the Escanaba Area Public Schools. Camp nurse will be Miss Anita Kotila, Public School nurse.

As in the past, selected high school concert band members will serve as cabin counselors and recreation leaders. They are Tom Schmeltzer, head lifeguard, Tom Marrier, Steve Davis, and Tom Anderson. The girls' cabin counselors are Linda Pohl, Mary Kay Finstrom, Judy Bender and Marietta Carlsson.

Is Self Supporting
Monies for the camp, which is self-supporting, are derived from the band candy sales, concerts, and a tuition fee which is paid by the camp students.

The Band Camp experience is one of the high points in the musical life of the Junior High School band students, and has proven very beneficial, not only musically, but as an educational experience in social living, the teachers report. The students receive two full band rehearsals and a sectional rehearsal each day, and two private lessons from their instructors during their stay in camp.

Evening recreation hours are supervised by the staff, and through the cooperation of the Conservation Department, tours, films, and a lecture series will be included this year.

The closing concert, the highlight of the camp week, is played in a scenic amphitheater which is located on the campground, and the public is cordially invited.

INVITING PORCH: This screened porch at the rear of the house is separated from the dining-family room facilities only by a sliding glass door, creating a sweeping vista.

FLOOR PLANS: The 1474 square feet of living area in this three-bedroom ranch house are divided into specific zones, yet have the kind of open effects which are so marvelous when extra space is needed for entertaining.

SUBDUED STYLING: There's nothing pretentious about the tasteful exterior of this ranch, even though it was designed with the deliberate intention of appearing to be larger than it really is; open planning features the interior layout.

Has Look Of Bigness

"I don't want a big house, but I want it to look larger than it is."

This is a familiar request to architects who specialize in residential design. Such requests can be handled without too much trouble, especially where the plot permits construction of a house with a long, low look, so stylish these days. But too often this illusion of spaciousness stops at the front door. What seemed to be a big house on the outside appears to shrink on the inside.

In the latest House of the Week, architect Samuel Paul has designed a modest home (1474 square feet of living area) which not only looks larger on both the outside and the inside, but more important, lives larger. Good open planning and precise zoning are combined to produce these effects.

A nice-sized foyer serves as the formal entry. It is fairly open to the adjacent living room, thereby visually increasing the living room, yet it is separate enough to act as a fine "weather stop" and reception hall. The living room features an attractive fireplace and bow style window overlooking the front portico.

To the left of the foyer, there is a short hall with a guest closet, family closet and linen closet. This leads to another foyer which serves as the circulation area between the three bedrooms and the large main bathroom. In this bathroom, the water closet has been separated from the bathing and washing area. In addition, it has been located so that it can also be entered from the rear—a most handy arrangement since it is only two steps from the rear door and kitchen. There is a long vanity with

H-88 STATISTICS

Design H-88 has a living room, dining-family room, kitchen, three bedrooms, two full baths, a screened porch, front portico and two-car garage. The habitable area totals 1474 square feet, which does not include the garage. Plans are included for a full basement. The over-all dimensions are 75' 2" by 33' 1".

dual basins. The master bedroom has a separate bath and generous closet space.

The balance of the home is made up of a 32' 8" expanse of kitchen, dining and family facilities stretching across the rear of the house. Note the absence of partitions in this area. The kitchen counter and hanging cabinets together serve as an effective physical divider, yet retain the quality of openness. The flexibility of this arrangement is such that, if the occasion arises, it is possible to arrange an enormous banquet table in the dining area because there is no problem of walls separating it from the family room.

Eating space also is provided within the kitchen; this space is large enough for a small table for everyday family meals. The kitchen itself is roomy, attractive, efficient and as convenient as could be from any part of the house. Another point of interest is the pair of folding doors separating the dining-family ensemble from the formal living room, thus permitting the two spaces to be joined if the need should ever arise.

An ideal outdoor complement to this home is the large screened porch adjoining the family room, with a sliding glass door separating the two. The porch is located in back of the two-car garage, which has a door there and another off the front portico.

The exterior is a tasteful blend of stone veneer and vertical boards. For accent it has the previously-mentioned front portico, which is arched, and several shutters. The over-all styling is subdued, an attribute common to more expensive homes.

Crackdown Due On Bad Drivers

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare says everything his department has tried to do to help bad drivers seems to have failed "and they have left us with no alternative but to get even tougher with them."

He has called a meeting of his driver improvement officers to consider how to bring this "hard-core of incorrigibles — between 10,000 and 20,000 drivers — into line."

Hare said he is thinking along lines of setting minimum standard punishments for offenders who reach certain point levels. In many instances now, driver improvement officers have alternatives, he said.

"In some cases because suspension or revocation might cause extreme economic hardship in the family, our driver improvement people have been prone to deal out lighter punishments to these bad drivers," he said.

Wood Siding Is Still Popular

AP Newsfeatures

Wood siding continues to hold its head high as a favorite exterior house material despite the inroads made by many other products.

There are many persons who feel that wood siding has no equal for giving a home a feeling of warmth and security. It is significant, for example, that many architects who specify stone, brick or some other material on the outside of a house will often blend it with clapboard, board-and-batten siding or one of the many other varieties and patterns of wood that are available.

Wood siding can be finished in an almost endless number of ways to get desired effects. There are natural finishes, some of which do not hide the grain texture and modify the color of the wood only slightly; some of which are actually bleaches and turn the wood to the color of driftwood; and some of which, mostly in the linseed oil family, permit the grain to show but darken the wood. There are stains of various kinds; those heavily pigmented are more durable; those lighter-bodied show more grain texture. And, of course, there are literally dozens of varied paints — oils, alkyd resins, latexes, etc. (You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know How, P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y., 11431.)

All sorts of opinions have been advanced on how often a house with wood siding should be painted. The Department of Agriculture, which has done much research on paints and their relation to wood, says that a good white paint should give four to five years' service, a tinted paint five to six years, and a good dark-color paint six to eight years.

When paint wears normally at about the rate given above, it is likely to cause far less trouble to the home owner than paint which might cling longer. In the latter case, repainting may be attempted before it actually is necessary, causing the building up of a thickness which eventually will have to be removed at considerable expense. The basic rule is to repaint after most of the old paint film has weathered away. Too-frequent rather than too-seldom repainting is the culprit.

Stains are especially interesting on rough-sawn or weathered wood surfaces. Because they penetrate the wood, they are not likely to cause future flaking or scaling. Also, they are fairly inexpensive. But some thought should be given to whether the house might be painted at some time in the future. Many stained surfaces require special treatments to keep them from bleeding through paints, especially through light tones.

A group of investors represented by Frank M. Whiston & Co., prominent Chicago real estate firm, has purchased the Carbide & Carbon Building at the southwest corner of Michigan Ave., and E. South Water St. in Chicago.

The Chicago American says of former Escanaban (EHS Class of 1911) Whiston: "Frank Whiston, head of the realty company which will manage the building, who was just re-elected president of the Chicago School Board, said 'We are proud to be in a position to render our management service to this outstanding Chicago office building, to the Union Carbide Corp. and to the many other fine tenants.'"

"The Whiston organization was recently appointed management agents for the $87 million — 1½ million square foot Chicago Civic Center. The 40-story Carbide building was completed in 1929 and named after its first major tenant. Its unusual combination of dark green terra cotta and gold leaf make it a striking feature of the Chicago skyline. Four million dollars cash was paid for the building lease and operating position."

Old Schoolhouse Made Red Again

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Remember the old red-brick school house?

A group of residents in this North Jersey suburb did last month when the Board of Education began sand-blasting the century-old school administration building, turning it from white to its original red brick front.

The school board intended to repaint the building white, but residents saw red and liked it. The board agreed.

Anti-Bug Pill Seen In Future

NEW YORK (AP) — Some summer you may swallow a harmless pill — to make mosquitoes and other biting bugs avoid you like a plague.

The anti-bug pill hasn't arrived yet.

But scientists are actively trying to find one, with some hopes of success.

The pill would do something to your skin so a mosquito, tick, chigger or other pest would scam away. You would remain as socially acceptable as ever to other people, to dogs and cats and canaries.

This quest for an anti-bug drug, and better usual ways of repelling insects, were described today to the American Medical Association by a group of physicians and scientists.

They are mainly interested in preventing bugs from passing diseases on to humans — such as U.S. soldiers serving in tropical lands — but any progress would quickly benefit picnickers, bathers, gardeners and summertime porch sitters.

Now "we can envision a pill" that would repel mosquitoes and other insects, said Dr. Jacques L. Sherman of New York, describing research begun in 1962 under the U.S. Army's Research and Development Command.

Among major reasons for hope, he and others said, are:

A pill is known that clears up fungus diseases, like athlete's foot, by acting through the skin.

Some people naturally are more bug-proof than others — mosquitoes usually avoid them — and scientists have some clues as to why this is so.

A fair amount of knowledge has been found as to what seems to attract or repel blood-sucking insects — how they are governed in choosing their targets.

Liquor Commission-Philosopher Says: Government Of People Not Just Majority Rule

The public is demanding and morality requires that our public officials restate and re-define the relationship between the public interest and the individual, says Armand D. Bove, member of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which ended its annual two-day meeting in the Upper Peninsula in Escanaba on Wednesday.

Bove, who studied for the Catholic priesthood before becoming a lawyer, has been active in public and church work with youth and with poverty.

"As result of the leadership of Governor Romney in the past few years there has been emerging a new statecraft in Michigan," says Bove. "Government is no longer a vested interest of a few. Many thousands of persons are beginning to take a more active part in the political and governmental affairs of our state. This is a healthy renewal and a necessary one if government is going to continue to function properly."

"Our society is demanding redefinition of the relationship of the individual and public interest and this is especially true in the area of liquor law administration.

"The liquor industry is a unique business that the people of our nation have been called upon to legitimize by vote. The law is so constructed that the Liquor Control Commission created by that law is put in a peculiar and difficult position of 'policing people's pleasure.'"

"As a result of this legal mandate and in order that government accomplish its ends in all areas, a mature recentering of the individual with the public interest is a necessity."

I think Lincoln summarized well the foundational principles of this important relationship.

Name Of Nails Goes Far Back

AP Newsfeatures

If you wrinkle your forehead in uncertainty when the instructions for a woodworking project call for the use of 8d nails, don't despair. Nearly everybody does the same thing.

The term penny for nail length is an inheritance from antiquity. The letter d is from the Latin word "denarius," meaning penny. And the term was used in medieval England to designate the number of nails of a given size sold for a penny; thus, a pennyweight. Obviously, the bigger and heavier the nails, the fewer the pennyweight.

All nails come in standard lengths. The so-called common nail is just as long for a given penny size as most other types, such as box nails, casing nails, finishing nails, cut nails and the various specially treated or threaded nails. Only a few unusual types are a bit shorter. As a rule, the longer nails are thicker than the shorter ones of any kind, although there are common differences in diameter between different kinds.

Since all that may be a little confusing, here are some of the standard lengths of common nails for the various penny sizes:

1 1/2 inches-4d; 1 3/4 inches-5d; 2 inches-6d; 2 1/4 inches-7d; 2 1/2 inches-8d; 2 3/4 inches-9d; 3 inches-10d. (You might clip this out for future reference.)

Research on nailed joints shows that the strongest joint is obtained with a nail long enough to penetrate at least

Paperbacks Help Out Delinquents

WHITMORE LAKE, Mich. (AP) — Newspapers and science fiction paperbacks can help juvenile delinquents and youthful "nonachievers" to communicate with the world around them, a University of Michigan educator says.

Dr. Daniel Fader, 35, assistant professor of English, uses such publications at the boys' training school near here.

"A traditional textbook is a symbol of a boy's failure," Fader said. "Newspapers, magazines and paperbacks are something they can understand. Through these, a natural interest can be aroused."

two-thirds of its length into the piece of wood holding the point.

The head size or shape of a nail is important if "blind" nailing or "set" nailing is to be done. For these purposes, finishing or casing nails, with very small heads, are used. Blind nailing usually is used to put down tongue-and-grooved flooring, siding or paneling. The nails are driven into one edge of the piece at the base of the tongue. Set nailing is done by driving the nail below the surface with a punch-like tool called a nail set. The head is then concealed with a putty-like substance of appropriate color to blend with the wood.

Table Classic, Meat Loaf, Given New Treatment

Instead of preparing meat loaf in the usual way, turn this favorite beef dish into a taste sensation. Fill the center of the meat loaf with herb-seasoned stuffing along with sautéed mushrooms and hard-cooked eggs. The perfect blend of flavors in the stuffing gives the meat loaf a mouth-watering aroma while it is baking.

Herb-Stuffed Meat Loaf
 1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced
 1 medium onion, minced
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1 teaspoon bottled lemon juice
 1 package herb-seasoned stuffing

 1/4 cup snipped parsley
 3/4 to 1 cup boiling water
 2 eggs, beaten
 2 pounds ground beef
 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 2 hard-cooked eggs

Saute sliced mushrooms and onions in butter until tender. Add lemon juice, 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing, pepper and parsley. Add enough boiling water so that mixture is moist. Combine beaten eggs with the beef. Add seasoned salt, mustard and remaining stuffing to meat mixture. Pack half of meat mixture into a buttered 10"x5"x3" loaf pan; spoon herb-seasoned stuffing mixture on top, press 2 whole hard-cooked eggs into stuffing, top with rest of meat mixture. Bake in 400° F. oven for about 1 hour and 15 minutes. During last 15 minutes of baking garnish top of meat loaf with onion rings. Serves 8.

Trial Continues In Gas Case

Testimony continued in the Goudreau law case in Circuit Court Thursday with Dr. Steven C. Nordane, geologist with Michigan Technological University among witnesses.

Dr. Nordane testified on characteristics of petroleum. A number of variables, including wind, water, and barometric affect the length of time gases will be given off, he said. Ice in ground can act as a cap, causing gases to move horizontally instead of vertically, he said.

The trial began Wednesday with selection of 12 jurors. George and Marie Goudreau are the plaintiffs and owners of a house on Deer St., which they have not occupied for a number of months due to presence of gas fumes.

They allege the fumes were caused by gasoline leaking from a tank at the Robert Hoar gas station, a dealer of Manistique Oil Co. The oil company and partners, the station operator and Butler Manufacturing Co. are defendants, the latter a third party defendant.

George Goudreau, who testified Wednesday afternoon and said a defective tank was removed from the Robert Hoar station, also was on the stand Thursday.

Also testifying were Alfred Scharstrom, city employee who inspected, and William Wedegartner, on costs of replacing landscape materials.

The fire marshal and health department officials inspected the property during the period since the problem began in early 1962, Goudreau said. The couple is not occupying the home.

Efforts to pump the area with a trench in which perforated pipe and a pump were used were described in testimony Thursday. Circuit Judge George S. Baldwin is presiding.

Waterspouts reach 2,000 feet into the sky. These phenomena occur at sea in air currents, often over warm waters. As warm air expands and rises, cooler air rushes in to replace it. A whirling motion begins. Vapors in the twisting column condense and unite with turbulent water from the sea.

Uno Heggbolm Admitted To Bar

In a brief, formal ceremony Thursday in Circuit Court, U. S. A. Heggbolm, former resident who has been practicing law in Detroit was admitted to the Schoolcraft County Bar.

Mr. Heggbolm has moved here and will continue his Detroit practice also. He has built a home on Oak St., from which he will operate a law practice.

Atty. W. J. Sheahan of Manistique made the motion to admit Heggbolm to the bar and support was by Atty. G. S. Johnson. Judge George S. Baldwin made brief remarks welcoming Mr. Heggbolm.

The U. S. A. in his name stands for Uno Sylvester Augustus. His grandfather was an early American settler, coming when Uno's father was 3, in 1869. He was a Navy man and U.S. Marine. John Heggbolm came here in 1886 and was in the logging business 40 years.

Atty. Heggbolm is a graduate of Manistique High School, where he was active in debating, baseball, basketball and football. At one time he had dreams of playing with the Detroit Tigers, after playing on the city team. After working in the Post Office here, an injury forced him to change career and he took a job as wheelman on the U.S. Survey steamer, operating from Manistique and St. Ignace, and as a quartermaster aboard the U.S.S. Search.

He studied at Detroit Institute of Technology, Detroit Teachers College, College of the City of Detroit, and Wayne University and also at the Detroit College of Law (LLB-1922) and University of Detroit (LLM-1924).

At college he played baseball and basketball, was on the debating team, and on wrestling and boxing teams of the Detroit College of Law.

He was a candidate for Congress as early as 1924, served on district and county conventions and a delegate to an equal number of Republican state conventions. Twice he was a member of the Michigan delegation to Republican National Conventions, the first in 1940 when the Michigan delegation was responsible for nomination of Wendell Wilkie, and in 1944 when he led the fight to have the Michigan delegation support Tom Dewey for the presidency.

He has served as chairman of the Scandinavian Central Coordinating Committee and as a member of the Norse Civic News board of directors. When the Danish, Finnish, Augustana and United Lutheran churches formed the American Lutheran Church and organized the Lutheran Men's organization, he was unanimously elected constituting convention secretary.

In the heart of the depression, he gave weekly radio lectures on the Townsend plan, and for three years headed the Michigan organization for it. He also was parliamentarian of the Townsend Plan national conventions, legal adviser to Dr. Francis E. Townsend, and in 1938, parliamentarian for the 70,000-delegate national convention of the organization in Los Angeles.

MR. AND MRS. Donald S. Lloyd, Indian Lake, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Marie to James Freeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Freeland, Gulliver. An Aug. 21 wedding is planned.

Volunteer Fire Plan Reviewed

A suggestion that the fire department (Department of Public Safety) be organized into a volunteer unit was reviewed at a special meeting of the Manistique City Council Thursday night.

The review was in connection with a public hearing on the city budget, which totals $268,805. Anticipated revenue is about $85,000 less than last year.

One factor in the lower revenue is a new depreciation schedule for personal property. There is also the need to "free up" funds for capital improvements without asking for millage at this time. There will be the need for millage to finance street improvements and this will be requested of the voters next fall, said City Manager Samuel C. Gesko Jr.

About 25 persons attended the hearing at which the consensus appeared to be opposition to reduction in fire protection and willingness to pay additional money to maintain fire protection.

Councilman Charles Varnum in a statement addressed to Mayor Merwin White opposed the proposed cut in personnel and noted that "you cannot cut personnel and still maintain adequate service." Cities that do have volunteer fire service have arrangements for assistance from nearby cities. Manistique couldn't be aided by other cities because its hose couplings are not the same size as those of other cities.

Robert Walters, owner of the Harbor Bar and former member of the police department, stressed the importance of saving lives as well as property. He said a volunteer system does not work effectively because it means calling men from their jobs.

William Olesak, former councilman, said the city bears more of the cost of the department than does the county, which has fire protection through the arrangement.

Firemen present at the meeting said the county-purchased truck is the best the department has, that two fire engines are "absolutely essential" for even the protection of the city alone; and said the county and townships bear part of the cost of the volunteer calls.

Mayor Merwin White said in conclusion that no decision has been made to change the department to a volunteer basis. No change will be made unless it is assured that a different system will work in actuality as well as on paper.

We're Converting U.P. Wood Into U.P. Dollars

The pulp and paper industry in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is an old one, born in the last century after the wood industries of the area had been launched by pioneer sawmilling.

The industry has undergone many changes. The species of woods which it has used have changed somewhat and the industry has made enormous advances in technology. This great advance in know-how gives some of our Upper Peninsula pulping woods a potential value which they didn't used to have, but there are other problems which must be solved to make this potential value a reality.

The mill must make profit by selling its products in competition with the products from other mills in other areas. This means that the producer of pulpwood must be competitive with other areas just as certainly as the paper mill must.

Our mill is a specialized operation which uses both reprocessed waste paper and ground-wood pulp for Upper Peninsula pulpwoods in blended materials. It is a union of products that is rather symbolic of our whole operation, for it is necessary that both the forest areas understand our needs in raw materials (pulpwood) and the city areas understand our mill needs in labor skills for the making of quality papers.

We are happy to have achieved an effective combination of these forces, to which we have contributed a third factor, major improvements in our paper mill, to make our operations more efficient and competitive.

It is a long way from the forest when our Upper Peninsula pulpwood trees are cut to the city markets where our papers are sold, but it is a chain of progress which must be strong in all its links if we are to be fully successful.

Salt Lake City Church Swings To Folk Music

By JACK PERRON
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — It was Sunday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Salt Lake City. But it sounded more like a Friday night hootenanny.

"The American folk song mass" was being strummed before more than 600 toe-tapping, head-bobbing Christians.

And its composer, the Rev. Ian Douglas Mitchell, 38—who speaks more like a jazz musician than a priest—was leading the whole unorthodox service with his guitar.

"Man," says Father Mitchell, "the winds of change are rippling through the church."

And he's right in the middle of it, strumming his new style folk music hymns or pouring out an updated version of the feeding of the five thousand. Not A Revival

"The church must use contemporary forms if she is to be contemporary and speak to the time at any age," he declares.

"Folk music is the music of the people reflecting their lives and loves, joys and sorrows, hopes and fears."

"It expresses the deep things of life as it is lived with an underlying acceptance of its realities, but with the hope of better things to come."

And it was a deep and hopeful service at St. Mark's—not a revival.

Two guitars, one banjo and two bass players squeezed with their instruments alongside a choir of college and church singers—all but hiding a silent organ near the altar.

People looked at each other the guitar at the seminary it wasn't long before he was using it to entertain his fellow students.

He started changing a few hymns to folk music. And then he got an idea to change the music of the mass.

"I was toying with the idea and my friends said, 'Do it—that's something worthwhile. So I decided to try it—just as an experiment.'"

It took him a year—working on and off. He completed it while he was curate at Trinity Church in Anderson, Ind.

In 1962, the music was recorded and sold commercially. The score was published in book form, and Father Mitchell became a recognized rebel in church music circles.

In August 1964, he arrived at Bluff, in the southeast corner of Utah, to serve as assistant priest at St. Christopher's Mission to the Navajo Indians.

Father Mitchell lives with his wife, Caroline, and four children in a trailer house on the reservation.

What does he think of folk music in the church?

"It'll never replace the great church music," he smiles, "but it's good for a change."

Shoppers Spurn Surplus Foods

MALDEN, Mass. (AP) — Housewives are turning up their noses at some of the $12,000 worth of surplus food available to them under the city's anti-poverty program.

Among the seven tons of free food made ready for distribution at school cafeterias this week were bulgar, rolled wheat and hominy grits.

"What does it do?" asked one elderly woman of the bulgar—Turkish cereal.

Warship Makes Annual 'Cruise'

BOSTON (AP) — USS Constitution—"Old Ironsides"—of historic and poetic fame—has made her annual voyage, a turnaround trip at the end of a tow-line.

The Navy changes the position of the old warship yearly so the run and pressure of prevailing winds won't warp her masts.

This year's turnaround trip was a two-hour jaunt into the harbor Wednesday. Four Navy tugs supplied the power.

Reniger Leads State Amateur

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Hard-hitting Bud Reniger of Lansing, who won medalist honors with a subpar 143, and five ex-champions headed the field of 64 golfers into match play into the 54th annual Michigan amateur golf championship today.

Reniger drew Don Curyla of Detroit, who shot a 152, as his first match play opponent.

Reniger, finishing his second round of qualifying late Thursday, carded a 34-33-67 to edge veteran Tom Draper of Birmingham for the medal by one stroke.

Draper, in the third foursome to finish, added a 74 to an opening day 70 for his 144.

Willie Wallops 20th Homerun-- That's Stargell

By The Associated Press

Say Hey, look what Willie did. Willie Stargell, that is. The slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, who takes his glasses off to play ball, hammered Los Angeles pitching for three home runs and a double Thursday night, driving in six runs as the Pirates crushed the National League-leading Dodgers 13-3.

Riding a month-long streak that has propelled him into the race for home-run leadership, Stargell brought his total for the season to 20 with his latest outburst. Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants leads the majors with 22.

Against the Dodgers, Stargell homered with the bases empty in the first and with one on in the third against 11-game winner Don Drysdale, struck out in the fourth, then connected for his third homer against reliever John Purdin with two on in the sixth.

He came up in the eighth against Mike Kekich and doubled, shooting a line drive down the left-field line that fell two feet short of the stands.

While Stargell was leading a 15-hit attack, St. Louis belted Cincinnati 11-4 with a 12-hit offensive, Philadelphia downed San Francisco 3-1, the Chicago Cubs defeated Milwaukee 3-1 and Houston whipped the New York Mets 4-2.

game against the Eskey Cubs will be played at the Powers diamond.

It will be the first game of the season at Powers. The team's first two victories were scored on the Hermansville field.

"The diamond is in good shape and we're expecting a large crowd," Managers Bob Smith and Bob Rochon noted today.

The game matches two undefeated teams, each with 2-0 records. The victories in both cases were registered against Manistique and Gladstone.

Of feature interest will be the mound duel between Denny McClure of Powers-Hermansville and Mike Gafner of Escanaba. Between them they have struck out 72 batters in 32 innings this season. McClure has 43 whiffs and Gafner 29.

The Eskey Cubs are defending champs in the loop and Powers-Hermansville finished in a tie for second place with Manistique last season.

The other Sunday contest will send Gladstone to Manistique with both teams shooting for their first victory of the campaign.

Both games will begin at 2.

State Bankers Top Lombardi's

State Bank handed defending champion Lombardi's (formerly Brown's Sinclair) a 21-12 defeat in Escanaba Girls Softball action Thursday.

State Bank led through the game although the margin was a slim 8-7 at one point.

Carol Courneene had four hits in five trips and Judy Kutches matched that performance and slammed a three run homer in the seventh as State Bank retained its undefeated status.

Betty Thorsen was the winning pitcher, allowing 10 hits, Sue VanEffen was the loser.

Butler Pitches No-Hit Victory Against Bero's

Todd Butler, king of Escanaba softball pitchers, left no doubt of his right to the throne Thursday night as he whipped out a no-hit, no-run masterpiece against Bero Motors.

The Mead Paper Makers won 8-0 in their tuneup for action in the big Crystal Falls Invitational tournament which opens tonight. Mead will face Ishpeming Woody's Bar in a feature game at 9.

In authoring his second no-hitter of the campaign, the fast ball artist faced only 23 batters. He granted two successive walks in the second inning and then retired the last 17 men he faced. Butler fanned 12, maintaining his average of 10-plus victims per outing.

Pacing Mead to its 11th straight triumph at the plate last night were Wally Flath and Bill Lancour who solved Dale Bimner's slants for three hits apiece. Flath included a triple and Lancour a double in their assault.

Big blow of the night was a three-run homer off the bat of Mickey Moses. The Paper Makers reached Bimner for 11 hits in all.

If Mead beats Woody's tonight in the Crystal Falls tournament the Paper Makers will return to action Sunday at 3. Another victory in that game would move them into the championship Sunday night at 8.

Other teams competing in the tourney are Crystal Falls, Ishpeming Koski Korner, Rhineland, IM-Kingsford Credit Union, Aurora C&R and Gwinn Peterson's.

In last night's opener, Hall Insurance whipped No. 3 Mead by a 15-7 margin. Will Summers and Tom Johnson led the Hall plate attack by driving in four runs apiece off Zeke Way who allowed 14 hits. Johnson, Duane Hamelin and Al Adams shared the Hall hill and gave up seven hits and six walks.

Rain that washed out Tuesday's doubleheader set the stage for Saturday's important Escanaba Jaycee Little League game between front running Rotary and second place VFW. Idled by the wash-out rough and ready Rotary who have averaged 16 runs per game in their last four starts will send Tom Kangas, 4 and 0, against the Vets' Doug Howard, 2 and 1. With ten days rest both pitchers will be fresh for the battle for first place in the league's standings.

Regardless of the outcome, waiting in the wings will be Kiwanis, who by virtue of their three wins this week have moved into a second place tie with the Vets and stand to gain by Saturday night's game. If Rotary wins, Kiwanis will be in sole possession of second place. Should the Vets win, Rotary, V. F. W. and Kiwanis will be tied for the league lead.

Rotary's power was apparent as their hitters continued to dominate the league's top ten batting averages. Gary Provo, fleet footed center fielder for Rotary leads, the league with a .565 average while teammate Tom Kangas holds down second place with .523 and tops the league's pitchers.

The top ten batters: Gary Provo, Rotary .565; Tom Kangas, Rotary .523; Mike Backlund, Kiwanis .509; Mike Rader, Eagles .480; Doug Howard, V. F. W. .478; Don Eastman, Rotary .458; Joe Jordan, Bankers .450; Les Smith, Rotary .435; Dennis Lueneberg, Credit Union, .423; Bob Stone, Bankers .363.

Pitchers: Tom Kangas, Rotary 4-0; Bill Skradski, Bankers 3-0; Dave Moberg, Kiwanis 3-1; Brendon Williams, Kiwanis 2-1; Doug Howard, VFW 2-1.

Yankee Future is Dark But Keane Still Has Hope

By The Associated Press

Mantle is out. Maris is out. Whitey Ford pitches when the weather is right. Tony Kubek hasn't scored since May 9. The team batting average is .224, the New York Yankees are 10½ games back and Johnny Keane says everything is fine and dandy.

Which should make Mr. Keane the optimist of the year. Listen. "Of course you've got an uphill struggle when you're as far back as we are, 10 or 11 games of whatever it is. But I still think we've got a very good chance."

With the M and M boys on the sidelines again — Mickey Mantle with a pulled left hamstring and Roger Maris with bruised fingers — the Yanks dropped a 6-2 decision to Kansas City Thursday, snapping a two-game winning binge and marking their eighth loss in 12 games.

Cleveland beat Minnesota 3-1 and moved to within a half game of the leading Twins. Idle Chicago also moved to within a half game of the top, Baltimore, 4-1 victory over Boston, climbed to within one. Detroit edged Los Angeles 3-2 in the only other game scheduled.

The National Association of Yankee Haters is having its grandest time in two decades. The Yanks, everybody's choice to win their 15th pennant in 17 years and a record sixth in a row, have had problems in bunches.

There have been injuries galore, principally to Mantle, Maris and Elston Howard. Nobody is hitting much. They're losing the close ones. And the lop-sided ones.

Keane, in his first year at the job, is — at least outwardly — undisturbed.

"I still think we have a chance." But it must have been rubbing salt into a profusion of bleeding

Hot Tigers Invade Minnesota Tonight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Hot from a profitable showing at home, the Detroit Tigers open a direct bid tonight for the leadership of the American League.

The Tigers, who climaxed a home stay in young Denny McLain's nine-strikeout, 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Thursday night in Detroit, are meeting the league-leading Minnesota Twins in a four-game series.

Detroit, in fourth place two games off the Twins' pace, is in position to mess up the first division standings if the Twins can be handled.

Dave Wickersham, so far 1-5, will start for the Tigers tonight. He will face Dave Boswell (4-3) of the Twins. The series continues with one game Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday.

Young McLain, boosting his record to 4-3, bolstered his reputation as the league's 1965 strikeout sensation with his latest feat.

As before, too, he got the nine strikeouts in a cluster. All came in the first innings of a five-hit game. His control was solid. He walked no one.

Two of the Angel hits were successive home runs in the fourth inning by Jim Fregosi and Willie Smith.

The Tigers already had gone ahead, scoring all their runs off Fred Newman in the third. Dick McAuliffe singled home one and Jerry Lumpe doubled home a pair.

Lumpe and Don Wert got two hits each among the Tigers' six hits in the game.

McLain's run of strikeouts have given the statisticians something to play with.

The 20-year-old right-hander from Dalton, Ill., has fanned 80 men in 81 innings. Of these, 40 were in the last 36 innings.

Whitworth Tops Carling Field

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, the likely heir apparent as women's golf queen if Mickey Wright carries out her retirement plans, heads the field in the $10,000 Lady Carling Open which begins today.

Miss Whitworth, the leading money winner on the 1965 tour with $10,997, tuned up for the 54-hole tournament Thursday with a one-under-par 69, on the Turf Valley Country Club course. This enabled her to finish one stroke ahead of Susie Maxwell of Tulsa, Okla., in the pro-am round.

Miss Wright, who has dominated the women's competition in recent years, has indicated she'll quit the tour after this year and return to Southern Methodist University. She is second in earnings with $8,888.

Softball

Members of the Merchants softball team will meet at Spar's at 4:30 Saturday for the trip to Marquette.

Denny's victory Thursday night gave Detroit the odd game in the Angels series of three and finished off one of the finest home stay records in years for the Tigers.

The Tigers' current road trip will find them playing 13 games. From here they go to Baltimore for two games, to Boston for another set of two, and conclude with three games at Washington.

Hockey's Plans Revealed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League plans to make an announcement today and maybe shed some light on its expansion program.

After the NHL's Board of Governors and league President Clarence Campbell met Thursday in a closed session, an NHL spokesman said, "We'll meet again Friday and expect to have an announcement about noon."

Previously Campbell had said he didn't think "any new cities will be made public."

However, it was learned that a city or two may be named.

The NHL is considering expanding by adding a new, six-team division. Cities presently in the major league are Toronto, Montreal, New York, Boston, Detroit and Chicago.

Gas Pipe Line Work Resumed On Court Order

A work stoppage affecting contractors in the Iron Mountain and Escanaba areas on construction of the natural gas pipe line was halted by court action and construction was resumed this morning.

The jurisdictional dispute tieup halted work for two and a half days starting Tuesday under picketing of projects by Local 1329 of the Construction and General Laborers Union, of which Cornelius (Torpedo) Alessandrini of Iron Mountain is business agent.

Circuit Judge Ernest Brown issued an order at 1:30 p. m. Thursday restraining picketing until a hearing on the issue before him at Iron Mountain at 1 p. m. Thursday, July 1.

Contractors building the pipe line and gas distribution systems for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., obtained the restraining order. They said that they are members of a Michigan association of construction contractors who have a statewide agreement with the Construction and General Laborers Union. Local 1329 acknowledged the agreement, but said that it did not cover wages.

The going wage rate was reported at $2.58 an hour, with $3.17 asked and with a compromise at $2.75 an hour by Micels Construction Co. of Sheboygan, which is laying pipe in the Iron Mountain area and which was not affected by the shutdown. Micels is one of three construction firms working on the pipe line system in the Iron Mountain area. Micels is a subcontractor for Van

Escanaba Needs More Dwellings, Planners Told

Requests for information about creating a mobile home subdivision and for a change in zoning to permit the construction of an apartment building were heard by the Escanaba Planning Commission in meeting at the City Hall Thursday night.

The request for re-zoning came to the Commission from land owners represented by Richard Juetten, Escanaba realtor.

The area asked to be rezoned is at 8th Ave. S. and 23rd St. and the change is from Residence A to Residence C. Under the latter classification multiple dwellings, such as apartments, are permitted. Class A limits dwellings to one family.

Juetten told the Commission that the community is in need of apartment buildings and presented a letter from Walter G. Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, in which Lewke reported that "based on our observations" many persons are seeking modern apartment facilities.

The Commission decided to hold an informal public hearing at which the opinion of the people of the land owners of the area in consideration will be received. The concerned land owners will be notified of the date and place of hearing.

The Commission, to avoid "spot zoning" complications, established the area under consideration for change from Class A to Class C residence as on S. 23rd St. between 5th Ave. S. and 8th Ave. S. and extending westward from 23rd St. for 775 feet.

The request for information on establishing a subdivision for mobile homes came to the Commission from Phil LaMarch and Ralph Johnson of Phil & Lee's Trailer Sales.

It was suggested to them that they find a suitable site with utilities for such a development, and that they would be expected to conform to the building code. They were invited by the Commission to return for further discussion of the proposed project.

The Commission moved to recommend to the City Council a change in zoning from Residence B to Commercial of a site at N. 14th St. and 1st Ave. N. The request was made by George Cavadeas, who said that removal of an old dwelling there and a change in zoning will clear the way for construction of an office building.

There was some opposition to the proposal, but in public hearing and after discussion the objections were withdrawn.

Lutherans Take Step For Unity

DETROIT (AP) — Missouri Synod Lutherans broke precedent this week in voting overwhelmingly to participate in a joint organization with Lutherans of other denominations.

In the past, the 2.7 million member Missouri Synod had rejected affiliation with other Lutheran groups.

By voice vote, the 900 delegates to the 46th convention of the Synod approved a resolution that urged "another decisive step in efforts to seek unity among Lutherans."

The move will bring the Synod into the proposed new Lutheran Council in the United States of America which will represent some 8.3 million members. The Missouri Synod is expected to join the new organization in November 1966.

The American Lutheran Church which has 2.5 million members endorsed the constitution of the new group last October. Approval of the constitution by the 3.2 million-member Lutheran Church in America appears certain, a Missouri synod spokesman said earlier.

The Synod of Evangelical Lutheran Churches — with 20,000 20,000 members — is expected to members — is expected to act on the proposal in September.

In other business yesterday The Rev. Dr. W. Harry Kreiger, president of the Missouri Synod's Michigan district announced acceptance of his election as the Synod's fourth vice president.

Dr. Kreiger will take a pastorate in Lower Michigan. He will be succeeded as head of the 155,000-member Michigan district by the Rev. Edward C. Weber, district vice president from Fraser.

Mental Health Service Set Up

A comprehensive, long-range plan for the development of community mental health services in Michigan has been approved by the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Facilities Advisory Council.

Following passage of the Community Mental Health Centers Act of 1963, which authorized matching federal funds for construction of local mental health facilities, Governor Romney designated the Michigan Department of Health to administer the program in Michigan, and appointed the 13-member advisory council.

Approximately $6 million will be available for construction of community mental health centers in Michigan during the next three years. The first year's appropriation, nearly $1.5 million, will be allocated on the basis of the state plan to projects which can be under construction early in 1966.

The state plan was developed jointly by the Health Department's Division of Hospital and Medical Facilities, and the Research, Planning, and Development Division of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

In 33 Areas

It represents a total plan for development of community-based psychiatric services under the Community Mental Health Centers Act, the Hill-Burton Act, Michigan's Community Mental Health Facilities Act, and the budget and programming of the state department of mental health.

The plan divides the state into 33 mental health service areas consisting of:

1. Groupings of urban and rural counties around population centers which already serve as a focal point for psychiatric services.
2. Population centers with local facilities which have a potential for ultimate development as community mental health centers.
3. Groupings of counties around state facilities which have potential for development as community mental health centers.
4. Groupings of sparsely populated counties which do not have local resources to develop an adequate level of services.

The plan, which ranks the various service areas on a priority basis, is the result of a comprehensive study of the state's mental health needs and facilities undertaken jointly in 1964 by the health department and the department of mental health.

Facilities Surveyed

The survey indicated a total of approximately 33,000 inpatient admissions with psychiatric diagnosis in 1963, including 14,000 admissions to psychiatric units of general hospitals; 6,000 admissions to psychiatric hospitals; and 5,000 admissions to general hospitals without specific psychiatric services. Although data on outpatients was incomplete, at least 15,200 additional persons were treated on this basis. Total admissions to service in 1963 was 47,000 or 5.8 per 1,000 population. In addition, 26,500 persons were resident in psychiatric inpatient facilities or on convalescent or home care status.

The study surveyed existing facilities in the state, the distribution of psychiatric personnel, and patterns of utilization of mental health facilities.

The Michigan Department of Health will provide copies of the state plan to interested societies, organizations, and associations, and a copy of the plan and each annual revision will be available at all times for public examination at the health department.

The following is the list of service areas programmed for community mental health centers using federal grants authorized under the Community Mental Health Centers Act:

Muskegon, Battle Creek, Flint, South Oakland, Dearborn, Wyandotte, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Saginaw, Detroit Riverfront, Ann Arbor, Central Detroit, Northwest Detroit, Nankin Township (Wayne County), and Pontiac.

Other service areas will be developed using Hill-Burton funds or state appropriations. These areas, listed by priority ranking, are: Mt. Clemens, Caro, Mt. Pleasant, Petoskey, Alpena, Western U.P., Benton Harbor, South Macomb, Traverse City, Bay City, Port Huron, West Detroit, Marquette, Northeast Detroit, Newberry, Ypsilanti-Monroe, and Northville.

Little Rainfall

Ice-covered Antarctica is a waterless land, with annual precipitation on its vast interior plateau being only four inches, just two more than that of California's Death Valley. Potential water of the continent, which is equal to all the world's rivers and lakes, is locked in snow and ice.

JOSEPH MOSIER of Rapid River Rte. 1 caught this 6 lb. 14 oz. walleye while fishing on Ogon Bay, Big Bay de Noc, at 11:30 a.m. Thursday. The fish has been entered by Mosier in the Master Angler contest sponsored by the Escanaba Daily Press. Mosier was using a night crawler with harness when the walleye struck. (Daily Press Photo)

Merger Of U.P. Economic Help Units Proposed

Merger of all groups working for the development of the Upper Peninsula is desired by many persons, the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress was told in its quarterly meeting at the House of Ludington today and a way in which it could be done was proposed.

The proposal was made at UPACAP's request by the U. P. Field Services Committee which represents the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Northern Michigan University and Michigan Technological University to UPACAP. Charles Folio, U-M Extension officer in the U. P., made the presentation.

UPACAP was organized several years ago by the boards of supervisors of 14 U. P. counties with leadership from MSU to work for the economic development of the area. It has recently, without abandoning its old program of projects to develop tourism, commercial fishing, wood industries, etc., taken on the processing of U. P. projects for the Economic Opportunity Program (War on Poverty) and its chief source of income is now the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity. It gave UPACAP a grant of $40,000 on May 10 to finance its staffing.

Single Voice

Restructuring of UPACAP was on its agenda for today's meeting, and also election of officers. The delegate body chosen by county boards of supervisors was to meet at luncheon for action.

Dr. E. V. Bowden, executive director of UPACAP, told the meeting "If the people think that we speak with the voice of one man."

Diplomats Await Johnson Plan To Solve UN Crisis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U.N. diplomats looked hopefully today to President Johnson to keynote of world organization's 20th birthday celebration with a plan for ending its financial crisis and rebuilding its sagging prestige.

The President is to address the delegates of 114 countries in the San Francisco Opera House where the U.N. Charter was drafted two decades ago. Johnson's speech was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. EST.

Although the contents of his speech were not released in advance there was widespread belief that a major theme would be the difficulties of the United Nations and possible action to strengthen the organization.

Greece's U.N. ambassador, Alexis S. Liatas, agreed with Secretary-General U Thant and others that the financial crisis facing the United Nations at the moment and said: "We all expect something tomorrow morning from President Johnson."

Observers agreed that the atmosphere was far different from the optimism in San Francisco in 1945, but they noted a brighter outlook than that of a few months ago.

The secretary-general observed this improvement and said: "I am very hopeful of the future potentialities of the great organization I have the privilege to serve."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, also in an optimistic vein, expressed the belief that the deadlock over Soviet voting rights was heading toward a solution, perhaps in the near future. He declined to answer directly when asked if the United States was possibly backing down on enforcing Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. This article says that countries two years behind in paying assessments shall lose their vote in the General Assembly.

Top Officials Shifted At GM

DETROIT (AP) — The most extensive reshuffling of top management jobs in General Motors history was announced Thursday less than a month after James M. Roche took over the GM presidency.

Buick, Chevrolet and Pontiac divisions all got new general managers in the reassignments. In addition, an AC Electronics Division was established at Milwaukee.

The new assignments for some of GM's top people had been awaited since Roche took over his new job.

Jobs Separated

In one of the significant moves, Roche separated two of the jobs he had held in his previous position as executive vice president. They were those of director of GM's Overseas and Canadian group and director of the Allison Division.

The key job of directing GM's vast overseas operations in 23 countries went to Simon E. Knudsen, 52, who was named as a group vice president. He had been vice president and general manager of Chevrolet, GM's bread and butter division.

Roger M. Kyes, former undersecretary of defense and a group vice president in charge of GM's accessory divisions, was given additional duties of supervising the Allison Division and the corporation's defense activities.

The other major changes included:

Louis C. Goad, 64, executive vice president in charge of the operations staff, was named to the new post of assistant to the president.

James E. Goodman, 60, executive vice president in charge of automotive body and assembly and parts division, was appointed chairman of the administration committee.
